organization the object of which is the introduction of the proportional system of representation-represenresentation is being much discussed throughout this country and Canada. The committee on elections in the house at Washington, during the last session, granted this league a hearing. The league has a council containing many prominent leaders in bone head ball players that ever made civic affairs.

Representation by unanimous constituencies probably will produce that which the present preferential voting is presumed to do, but does not accomplish. In effect, it does not prevent majority rule but at the same time it gives certain minorities representations, if they can enlist a specified number of voters, called constituencies, who are of the same opinion or have the same desires. Thus, instead of dividing your city into wards by geographical lines you assemble by the interpretation of and the method of counting, as it virtually amounts to, the votes or ballots from all parts of the city of those people who are of the same opinion. This produces a representative council and a majority council at the same

To illustrate in another way, in Maryland the democrats had two seats too many and the republicans deserved two that they did not get; in Oklahoma the democrats won three seats too many, the republicans one too few, and the socialists two too few; in Oregon the republicans got three seats that should have gone to the democrats; in Washington the progressives should have gotten one Kannenberg, Who Pitched Saturday's instead of none; and so on. Red Wing has about the same population as Brainerd. Brainerd has 1014 telephones. Red Wing has 2116. Why? In Brainerd the telephone business is now a monopoly. In Red Wing there is competition. On the Independent system alone in Red Wing there are 486 more telephones than in Brainerd.

Albert Lea has about 7000 people. In Albert Lea there are 2398 telephones. The independent company has 719 more than there are in the city of Brainerd. Why? The same story, competition.

Mankato has 10,000 people and has 3376 telephones; 2497 of which, or 1483 more than there are in Brainerd, are connected with the independent exchange.

Faribault with 9,000 people has 2190 telephones. Why? Same reason. The Northwestern company in Faribault, with competition, has more telephones than it has in Brainerd. With a monopoly.

Austin with about 7000 people has 2390 telephones. Why? Same old Dr. Competition. Each company in Austin has more telephones than there are in the city of Brainerd.

Now about duplication. Take Mankato, where, there being the greatest number of telephones, we should look for the heaviest duplication. There are in Mankato 360 duplicate telephones. Duplication may be figured in various ways; on the total number of telephones, on the number of telephones on one system, or on the number on the other. All these give different percentages. Let us compute it, honestly, on the number of subscribers rather than telephones. Taking away the 350 duplicates there are still 3016 telephones in Mankato, of which 360 is less than 12 per cent. Now we know that these 360 people receive more service, better service and more courteous treatment and pay cheaper rates because of competition, and are benefitted thereby. But how about the other 88 per cent of the people? Will any one deny that they are directly benefitted and that a large percentage of them are telephone subscribers only because of changed condition brought about by competition.

Now about divided service. Do not the figures above quoted show that in each of the cities mentioned, one of the competitive systems has more telephones than Brainerd has under monopoly?

Does it make any difference to you if the party you desire to reach has the "other telephone" or no telephone at all? In monopoly cities how often do you look through the directory to find that the party does not have a telephone.

By actual computation the telephone service enjoyed by the people in the competitive cities above noted, including the duplication, saves the public from $8, 000.00 to $10,000.00 per year, as compared with the samedevelopment, without duplication under monopoly and at monopoly rates.

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting-they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

The committee on elections in the session, granted this league a hearing. The league has a council containing many prominent leaders in civic affairs.

Representation by unanimous constituencies probably will produce that which the present preferential voting is presumed to do, but does not accomplish. In effect, it does not prevent majority rule but at the same time it gives certain minorities representations, if they can enlist a specified number of voters, called constituencies, who are of the same opinion or have the same desires. Thus, instead of dividing your city into wards by geographical lines you assemble by the interpretation of and the method of counting, as it virtually amounts to, the votes or ballots from all parts of the city of those people who are of the same opinion. This produces a representative council and a majority council at the same

Visitors Will See Sights at the Head of the Lakes and the Northern Iron Ranges

Arrangements have been made at Duluth, says the Duluth Herald, for the annual outing of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, to be held in Duluth and on the iron ranges, by a committee of the association, consisting of President Asa M. Wallace, editor of the Sauk Center Herald, and Secretary A. G. Rutedge, of Minneapolis. They were accompanied by I. L. Pell, advertising manager of the Northern Pacific railway, which has been chosen as the official route of the excursion that will take place.

The outing will cover four days, August 6, 7, 8 and 9, and an extensive program is being formed. One day will be spent in Duluth and the rest of the outing will radiate from this point. A steamer will be engaged on which the editors and their families will take a lake trip. The route for this has not yet been fully determined, but the trip may take n Isle Royale and other points of interest. Minor lake and bay trips will also be on the program. From Duluth a special train will be taken o both ranges, where local commitees will entertain the visitors. About 175 or 200 members and heir families will be in the party oming from forty-five counties which are comprised in the Northern Minnesota Editorial association. But besides that, at the February meet ing of the association, invitations were issued to all the other Minneso ta editorial associations of the state and the response has been so large that the committee in charge has felcalled upon to arrange for special train accommodations from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Duluth. DEFENDS WARFARE

Cermany Replies To American Note.

ASKS FOR MORE FACTS

Maintains Lusitania Was an Armed British Vessel.

Berlin, May 31 .- The following is the text of the German note:

"The undersigned has the honor to submit to Ambassador Gerard the following answer to the communication of May 15, regarding the injury to American interests through German submarine warfare:

"The imperial government has sub jected the communication of the American government to a thorough investigation. It entertains also a keen wish to co-operate in a frank and friendly way in clearing up a pos sible misunderstanding which may have arisen in the relations between the two governments through the events mentioned by the American

"Regarding, firstly, the cases of the American steamers Cushing and Gulflight. The American embassy already has been informed that the German government has no intention of submitting neutral ships in the war zone, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by a submarine or submarines or aviators. On the contrary, the German forces have been repeatedly instructed most specifically to avoid attacks on such ships.

"If neutral ships in recent months have suffered through the German submarine warfare, owing to mistakes in identification, it is a question only of quite isolated and exceptional cases which can be attributed to the British government's abuse of flags, together with the suspicious or culpable behavior of the masters of the ships.

Regrets Some Incidents.

"The German government in all cases in which it has been shown by its investigations that a neutral ship, not itself at fault-was damaged by German submarines or aviators, has expressed regret over the unfortunate attack and, if justified by conditions, has offered indemnification.

The cases of the Cushing and the Gulffight will be treated on the same fense in seeking, with all the means the issue, the secretary of state leadprinciples. An investigation of both cases is in progress, the result of tect the lives of its soldiers by de- lengths, on principle, to avoid danger which will be communicated presently to the embassy. The investigation can, if necessary, be supplemented by an international call on the international commission of inquiry, as provided by article III. of The Hague agreement of Oct. 18, 1907

When sinking the British steamer Falaba the commander of the German submarine had the intention of allowing the passengers and crew a full opportunity for a safe escape. Only when the master did not obey the order to heave to, but fled and summoned help by rocket signals, did the rying ammunition and provides a termination of the facts. German commander order the crew and passengers by signals and megaphones to leave the ship within ten minutes. He actually allowed them twenty-three minutes' time and fired the torpedo only when suspicious craft were hastening to the assistance of the Falaba.

"Regarding the loss of life by the sinking of the British passenger steamer Lusitania the German government already has expressed to the neutral governments concerned its keen regret that citizens of their states lost their lives.

Some Facts Overlooked.

"On this occasion the imperial government, however, cannot escape the impression that certain important facts having a direct bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania may have escaped the attention of the American government.

"In the interest of a clear and complete understanding, which is the aim of both governments, the imperial government considers it first neces sary to convince itself that the information accessible to both governments about the facts of the case is complete and in accord.

"The government of the United States proceeds on the assumption that the Lusitania could be regarded as an ordinary unarmed merchantman. The imperial government allows itself, in this connection, to point out that the Lusitania was one of the largest and fastest British merchant ships, built with government funds as an auxiliary cruiser and carried expressly as such in the 'navy list' issued by the admiralty.

"It is further known to the im perial government, from trustworthy reports from its agents and neutral passengers, that for a considerable time practically all the more valuable British merchantmen have been cisions in a street speaking contro equipped with cannon and ammuni- versy with Socialists of Seattle drew tion and other weapons and manned nationwide attention during the sumwith persons who have been specially mer and autumn of 1913, died of ed absolutely irrelevant to the issues. trained in serving guns. tania, too, according to information received here, had cannon aboard which were mounted and concealed below decks.

Use of Neutral Flags.

"The imperial government further has the honor to direct the particular attention of the American government to the fact that the British admiralty, in a confidential instruction, issued in February, 1915, recommended its mercantile shipping not only to seek protection under neutral flags and dis tinguishing marks, but also while thus disguised to attack German submarines by ramming. Owing to the fact that there is practically no sewage discharged into this lake and that the flow of water into this lake is from surrounding underground springs, I would say that your ice is absolutely pure and wholesome for both cooling and drinking purposes.

DEFENDS WARFARE

Cermany Replies To American Note. ASKS FOR MORE FACTS

Maintains Lusitania Was an Armed British Vessel.

Berlin, May 31.—The following is the text of the German note:

"The undersigned has the honor to submit to Ambassador Gerard the following answer to the communication of May 15, regarding the injury to American interests through German submarine warfare:

"The imperial government has sub jected the communication of the American government to a thorough investigation. It entertains also a keen wish to co-operate in a frank below decks. and friendly way in clearing up a pos sible misunderstanding which may have arisen in the relations between the two governments through the events mentioned by the American government.

"Regarding, firstly, the cases of the flight. The American embassy already has been informed that the German government has no intention of submitting neutral ships in the war zote, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by a submarine or submarines or aviators. On the contrary, the German forces have been repeatedly instructed most specifically to avoid attacks on such ships.

"If neutral ships in recent months have suffered through the German submarine warfare, owing to mistakes in identification, it is a question only of quite isolated and exceptional cases which can be attributed to the British government's abuse of flags, together with the suspicious or culpable behavior of the masters of the ships.

Regrets Some Incidents.

expressed regret over the unfortunate attack and, if justified by conditions, has offered indemnification.

'The cases of the Cushing and the Gulflight will be treated on the same principles. An investigation of both of warfare at its disposition, to proling a minority willing to go to any cases is in progress, the result of tect the lives of its soldiers by de-lengths, on principle, to avoid danger which will be communicated presently to the embassy. The investigation enemy. can, if necessary, be supplemented by an international call on the international commission of inquiry, as provided by article III. of The Hague agreement of Oct. 18, 1907.

"When sinking the British steamer submarine had the intention of allowing the passengers and crew a full der to heave to, but fled and summoned help by rocket signals, did the and passengers by signals and megaphones to leave the ship within ten minutes. He actually allowed them twenty-three minutes' time and fired the torpedo only when suspicious craft were hastening to the assistance of the Falaba.

"Regarding the loss of life by the sinking of the British passenger steamer Lusitania the German government already has expressed to the neutral governments concerned its keen regret that citizens of their tania's pasengers would otherwise in states lost their lives.

Some Facts Overlooked.

"On this occasion the imperial government, however, cannot escape the impression that certain important facts having a direct bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania may have escaped the attention of the American government.

"In the interest of a clear and complete understanding, which is the aim of both governments, the imperial government considers it first necessary to convince itself that the information accessible to both governments about the facts of the case is complete and in accord. "The government of the United States proceeds on the assumption that the Lusitania could be regarded as an ordinary unarmed merchantman. The imperial government allows itself, in this connection, to point out that the Lusitania was one of the largest and fastest British merchant ships, built with government funds as an auxiliary cruiser and carried expressly as such in the 'navy list issued by the admiralty. "It is further known to the imperial government, from trustworthy reports from its agents and neutral passengers, that for a considerable time practically all the more valuable British merchantmen have been cisions in a street speaking contro equipped with cannon and ammuni- versy with Socialists of Seattle drew tion and other weapons and manned nationwide attention during the sum the president's demands, are pronounctrained in serving guns. Peoples Ice Company, Brainerd, Minnesota.

Dear Sirs: -

In reply to your inquiry as regards the purity of the ice which you have put up ready for the market, will say that I have inspected the ice and also Pearch Lake from whence the ice was cut.

Owing to the fact that there is practically no sewage discharged into this lake and that the flow of water into this lake is from surrounding underground springs, I would say that your ice is absolutely pure and wholesome for both cooling and drinking purposes.
